Revealing Marie Saint Pierre

Marie Saint Pierre could have been a filmmaker sculptor or painter but the world-class fashion designer chose fabric as her canvas channeling her creative energy into empowering designs for women. While her counterparts approach the craft through illustrations and patterns, she dives into design, sculpting a dress right onto the body of a live model. Revealing Marie Saint Pierre gives razor-sharp insights into her creative process and quest for international recognition. (2016, 85 min). In partnership with National Film Board (NFB) Film Club.

Get Styled with Kayla!

Style expert Kayla Short is a firm believer that you don't need to spend a lot of money to look put together. Growing up, she didn't have a lot (and even less when she went to university), but she did have big dreams and a drive to figure something out! With a little creativity, and application of a few basics, Kayla will help you dive into the wonderful world of accessories. Whether it's hats, scarves, jewelry, or shoes there's no question that accessories can drastically change a look.

Our Oceans and the Changing World with Dr. Rebecca Langlois

Our planet is called the Blue Planet; nearly 71% of Earth's surface is covered by the world's ocean. In addition to providing a habitat for marine animals, the world ocean also regulates global climate. This course steps back and looks at the global ocean as it is now, as it was in the past, and how it may look in the future. In partnership with Seniors' College Association of Nova Scotia.
