The Sock Machine That Helped Win WWI

with Blake Harris

Blake Harris knits a pair of socks in 40 minutes on the 88, a replica of the Gearhart knitting machine that made history during the First and Second World Wars. Socks made by these machines helped keep feet dry and prevented the fungus and trench foot that could kill a soldier. Hear how Blake got into the sock making business and learn more about the machine that helped win the war. To register, call us at 902-490-3821 or visit the Information Desk.
