

The Grumpy Old Man

Back in 1903 there was one old man who didn't like anyone. One morning there was a teenager on his lawn he said "get off my lawn" the teenager left. That night the old man went to bed. But little did he know that he would be sleeping for years! When he woke up he had breakfast like normal but when he looked out his window he said "what the heck is going on". When he went outside to get coffee Tim hortons was floating and people had jetpacks everyone was just watching him try to get up. Eventually he left and went to his house and pinched himself to see if he was dreaming. B-ut he wasn't. So he went to his backyard there was money everywhere he was rich but when he got to walmart a bubble gum costed $100. He threw it at the ground and security caught him and kicked him out. Then he brought his car to the repair shop but when they were done with it. It flew and crashed into the White House. Then he went to jail for 100 years. He had it coming to him.
