

In The Future

In the future Santa Claus will be there i'm not saying he's not alive now he is but he will be wearing flying boots because he needs to fly in his slide. Santa claus is giving all the kids and adults presents in the whole wide world and that is big. So it will take him a long long time to give everyone presents in the whole wide world. But Santa claus is using the flying boots and he needs to put gas in the boots and when he goes the get gas some of the people see him. After Santa claus gets gas once he does not need to get gas 2 times. Santa claus will give some kids a tv & computer & phones and all the electronics but the thing is the tvs & computers & phones they all have blue screens and you can walk through and see through them. Santa claus will probably give some kids a book but instead they will get a phone because you can get a app that you can read online and plus you can play games but some kids and adults don't like to read online so they will just get a book. When Santa claus is going to give you your presents he was riding Rudolph and Rudolph was wearing rocket boots so he does not have to spend up all his energy but you might think that you have to put gas in the rocket boots but you don't need to because they are rocket boots. Santa claus will have a big big sack with toy phones books. But all the kids will get what they wish for unless they are bad. After Santa claus was done delivered all the presents he was so tired so mrs claus made mr claus some hot chocolate and cookies and them went to bed and had a good time until next year Santa claus and his elfs made presents and him and his wife and all the 80000 elfs live happy ever after.
