

Spooky

Snake and his mom showed up to the new house in Halifax. They drove their flying car. They moved from Lower sackville.

Snake decided to go outside to play while his mom finished unpacking. Snake felt nervous because he didn't know anyone on his new street. It looked like it was going to be thunder and a lot of rain so Snake decided to go back inside. He decided to play on the Air Tablet for a little while. He chose a scary game to play. While he was playing the lights went out because of the thunder and lightning storm. Then he heard a big bang...kaboom...the thunder was so loud. Snake jumped and cried for his mom. "Mom, where are you?" yelled Snake. Mom was in the kitchen and she heard Snake crying out. Mom came to the living room and said "Everything is going to be alright, it's just lightning." The storm ended and Snake felt happy, especially when the lights came back on.

All of a sudden, Mom heard slow tapping down in the basement. She thought it might be footsteps but then there was a bang and she screamed. Snake came running out of his room. "Oh no, what happened?" Snake asked his mom.

"Go get the lightsabre, Snake," Mom responded. Snake ran to the closet to grab it for her and they went to see what was happening in the basement. Mom heard growling and saw an alien coming toward her. She hit it with the lightsabre and it disappeared into thin air. Then they heard creaking coming from a door in the basement. They went down the stairs but then they heard the door slam shut and the lightsabre lost all power. Mom and Snake both screamed, "Help!" into their watch phones. In a few seconds they heard helicopters outside. The door to the stairs opened up and an Army officer was there with a light ray gun. "There's too many aliens in the house! Come with me quickly!" shouted the officer. Snake and mom ran out of the basement and went outside and got in the helicopter and flew away. When they were in the air they looked below and saw spaceships and aliens everywhere. They had to fly to the safe zone at the base. The aliens had been able to land on the ground because of the electrical surge from the storm. Usually a sky alarm would keep them out of Earth's air space. Snake and his mom were hoping that this was finally a chance for the aliens to become friends with humans. Otherwise, this could be the start of a war with the aliens.
